

THE MEMPHIS DAILY APPEAL.

BY MCCLANAHAN, TROUSDALE & DILL.

Daily Appeal.

For the Memphis Appeal.

To J. H. N.

With the friends, & every honest, man who loves his country,

comes to you which bear on the South,

then the news that holds answer,

that all the South, & every free,

has done its duty,

Wright sent my hearted brain,

Wrote the banner by naming,

that with God's aid my noble soul,

the South will stand,

Helps my spirit's home,

and the thought most painful,

that the South must stand,

Tell the South, that duty required,

Every thought that stood upright,

Will stand, though hope had perished,

that all the South, & every free,

will do its duty,

All who now stand, will stand,

And those others who will know,

that the South must stand,

Then comes the news of the South,

that all think, & every free,

Feels, more pain, than pleasure,

But still I stand,

But still I stand,

Kisses.

FROM FRIENDS BY DR. W. D. DILL.

"I am your friend,"

And mother's lip,

"Theophilus approaches,

"I stand & defend,"

She goes away,

The wife of the South,

She goes away,

She goes away,
